Please join us for an informative evening with Dr. Katherine Jellison, professor of history at Ohio University, who will share her research into the development of wedding culture in post-war America. Dr. Jellison examines key influences that have sustained this culture for over 60 years; including the bridal wear industry, celebrity weddings, movie weddings and more.

This lecture is given in conjunction with our current exhibition, "And the Bride Wore...Part II." Light refreshments will be provided as well as the opportunity to tour the exhibition with Gayle Strege, curator.
